CASTLE OF TURA

THE HISTORY OF THE CASTLE

Built in 1883, the castle with Neo-Renaissance and Baroque style elements was ordered by Baron Sigmund Schossberger, a magnate and wholesaler of crops. In 1938, the building was inherited by Clarisse, granddaughter of Sigmund, who still has a major impact on the life of the castle. During World War II, the castle was invaded by military forces, and after nationalisation it was used as a primary school until 1973.

By the 2000s, the state of the castle had deteriorated significantly, and it was the investment of BDPST Group saving it from complete destruction in 2016. After the complex renovation works lasting for nearly 30 months, BOTANIQ Castle of Tura could re-open its doors in the summer of 2020.

THE HOTEL

Following its opening in 2020, BOTANIQ Castle of Tura opened its doors to its guests as a fully equipped, modern five-star hotel.

Retaining the original style elements of the castle, the hotel offers its visitors recreation with its 19 guest rooms as well as complex wellness, fitness and gastronomic services for a stay of one or more days.

WELLNESS & FITNESS

The wellness area of the hotel is open all day, and it can be used any time during the stay in the hotel. In the spa there are, among others, Finnish sauna, plunge pool, steam room, salt room as well as outdoor and indoor pools contributing to absolute relaxation, and, in the relaxation area guests can even relax together. Thanks to the heated outdoor pool, the guests can also bathe under the open sky even when the weather is cooler.

With its modern outdoor and indoor sports equipment, the fitness centre is perfect for those longing for active recreation. Thanks to this area, the guests can continue their usual daily routines here, and those enjoying competitive challenges can also spend some time on the tennis court of the hotel, which can be used any time in the warmer months.

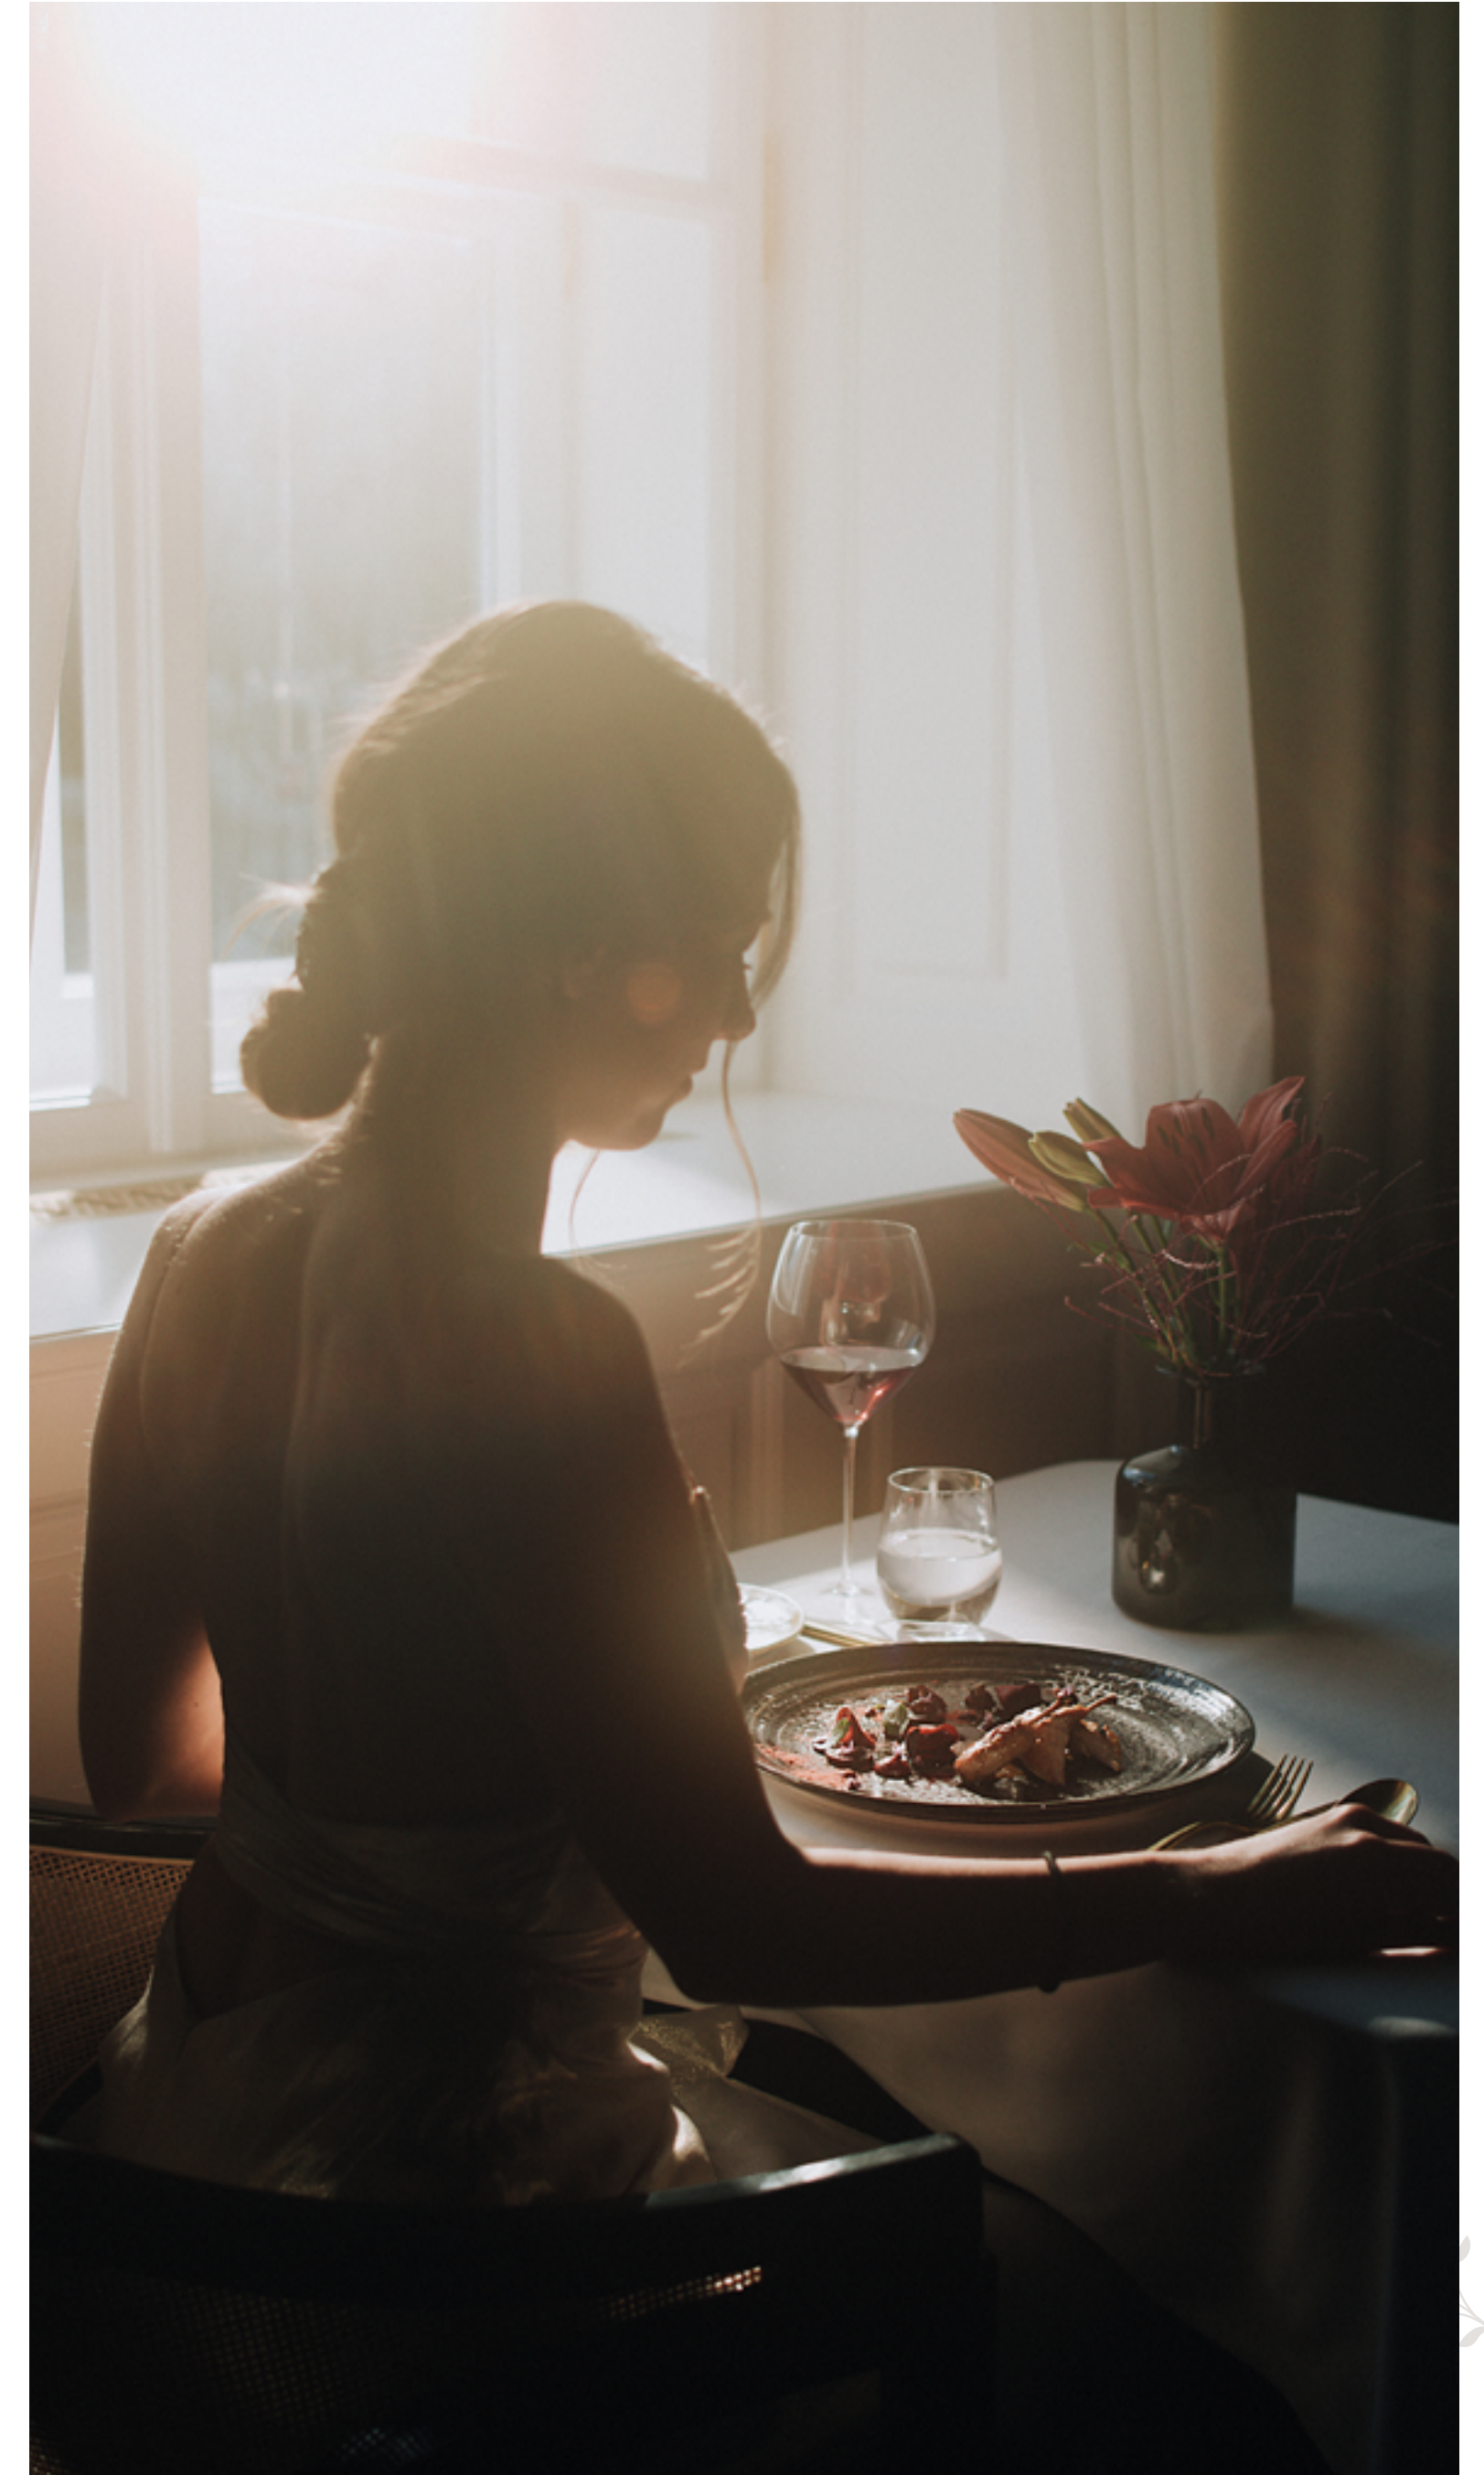

GASTRONOMY

The hotel has two restaurants, Clarisse and the Palm House, and they both invite their guests on an unforgettable taste trip with their different, but equally outstanding atmosphere. In case of both restaurants, the respect for the traditions of Tura and the cooperation with the local producers are extremely important.

The ingredients come from the neighbouring producers, hereby conveying the authentic flavours of the area. In the field of gastronomy, the castle strives to be self-sufficient: herbs and vegetables are already growing in its raised beds, hereby contributing to the operation of the restaurants.

CLARISSE

The fine dining restaurant of the castle, named after the former heir Clarisse Schossberger, focusing on the traditions of the castle, and awaits guests with its intimate atmosphere and special menu.

The menu which was inspired by the garden and the landscape surrounding the castle, is complemented with Hungarian and international wines as well as exceptional cocktails

The aim of the restaurant is to present the local gastronomy as well as the environment surrounding the castle in a unique way, hereby showing that the castle always had a close relationship with nature and the local community.

PALM HOUSE RESTAURANT

The Palm House is a perfect choice for those who wish to experience the charm of the castle in a more relaxed, but still elegant atmosphere.

With its neat bistro atmosphere, a bright space thanks to its huge windows, and a picturesque view of the castle garden is perfect for a delicious meal on every day of the week.

Thanks to the varied menu, everybody can find the ideal meal for themselves, whether they look for Hungarian or international flavours.

THE CASTLE GARDEN

The park with ancient trees on 10 and a half acres was restored in line with the original garden architecture plans.

Divided into seven units, the represented “moods”: forest, tranquillity, journey, dream, game, time and diamond are intended to symbolize the values of the castle.

The park shows a different face in each season, but equally magical.
